

Antonio Goncalves

Board Advisor and SVP of the Americas at dxFeed

Antonio Goncalves is a Board Advisor and SVP of the Americas at dxFeed and Devexperts.

Antonio is the former Managing Director for Latin America at the New York Stock Exchange (NYSE) in New York. During those 10 years, he had the opportunity to work in some of the continent's most innovative technology initiatives at exchanges, brokerages, and buy-side clients.

Prior to the NYSE, Antonio worked for Siemens AG in Lisbon, Munich, Boca Raton, Silicon Valley, and Toronto. He has launched FinTech services in numerous countries, including the UK, France, China, Singapore, Brazil, and Mexico. Antonio later went on to head the Siemens US Trading and Dispatch Division in New York for 5 years.

Antonio is fluent in 8 languages, a frequent speaker at international conferences, and a published author.

- Joined Devexperts in 2014
- 20+ years of international experience in the financial industry
- Focused on bringing the most advanced technology solutions to global exchanges, broker-dealers, and buy-side clients
- Experience in developing international relationships with exchanges and other market participants
- Holds roles at MIAX and AGHILL LLC